There is a problem with your theory that these three women are not James' McKays daughters.

A document, part of the Thomas Green Papers, in the collection of the Virginia Historical Society, lists the descendents of Robert McKay, the first known in this line. This document was prepared to show those who had claims in the Hite, McKay, Duff & Green dispute with Lord Fairfax. It is dated Dec. 31, 1823. The copy I have is a transcription prepared in 1956 by E. Rudolf McKay.

It shows the descendants via outline form. Although it doesn't specifically say the people under James are his children, the outline uses the word children earlier in parallel form.
It also carries the line forward another generation with proven children, so this are clearly the James McKay and Mary Chester Brood.

III. James McKay
A. James McKay Jr.
B. Robert McKay (4th)
C. Susan McKay m. Jno. Curl
D. Hannah McKay md. Isaac McCarty
E. Edith McKay m. Jonathan McCarty
F. Mary McKay m. Wm. Nelson
G. Nancy McKay m. Ebenezer Leith
H. Lidia McKay m. James Leith.

It then gives James McKay Jr. and the people listed under him are his known children, same for William, Susan and Hannah. I says Nancy is alive in Alabama with several children and that Edith and Jonathan are alive in Indiana with 15 children.
I also would point out that James, Robert and Susan are named in James McKay's will. So these are his children.

So basically, I think this document, which is contemperanous with the people involved, shows that James did indeed have the other daughters not mentioned in his will.

Alexander McKay of Shenandoah Co. VA

Shenandoah Co. VA marriages:

Alex McKay m. 3 Feb 1819 to Rosanna Conner
Alex McKay m. 20 Feb 1833 to Leuretia Warren.

know that he doesn't belong to my group of MacKay/McKay started by Robert MacKay Sr.

Does anyone know which McKay family they belong to ?

Does Alexander McKay have a relationship with the following McKays:

1. Mary McKay b. c1752 m. Wm. Nelson he died in Washington Co. TN.

2. Hannah McKay b. c1758 m. Isaac McCarty

3. Edith McKay b. c1763 m. Jonathan McCarty, alleged that two McCarty were brothers.

these three woman do not belong to the descendants of Robert MacKay Sr. who settled in the Shenandoah Valley in 1734.

If you are descendant of Wm. Nelson, Isaac McCarty or Jonathan McCarty I would not count on that idea that their wives were members of the McKay family.

Still looking at the group of McCoy (sic) in Fauquier Co. VA. Although a branch of Robert MacKay's family in the person of Sarah (McKay) Hume lived in that location, left descendants.

I think that this group of McCoy (never seems to use the spelling McKay) came into that location from other eastern Virginia counties like Stafford.

Alexander McKay might have come down from Cecil Co. MD, but I see no relationship with Robert MacKay (partner of J. Hite).

Hunter and E. Rudolf McKay

Posted by: Bob Scott Date: October 09, 1999 at 19:10:52
In Reply to: Re: Alexander McKay of Shenandoah Co. VA by Bob Scott 660 of 2428 Go

The document that gives an account of the Robert McKay descents as dated Dec. 21, 1823 was found by E. Rudolf McKay in 1956. It is identified as being part of the Thomas Green Papers and as residing in the collections of the Virginia Historical Society. I'm going to assume that Thomas Green is somehow associated with HIte, McKay, Duff & Green.

An introduction and notes to this transcription, explaining how it was taken from the original and put in its transcribed form, were apparently made by Hunter B. McKay, probably in 1956. (The introduction refers to "when Rudolf came over to the house" as having occurred during the winter of 1956. Hunter did not sign his name to the transcription. But there are note footnotes, one in the first person, and they are signed HBM, which I interpret as Hunter Branson McKay, and which I interpret as being the person who did all the actual organizing.

I've always wanted to have a look at the original because there are so many names here, I am certain some copying errors occurred. And if people were recalling marriages from their memory, I am certain some factual errors were introduced.

Nevertheless, most of the descents listed fit with genealogies that we know to be correct. For example, the children attributed to James McKay who married Mary Cheek, are given as supported by official documents.

I don't know what reputation Rudolf McKay had as a family historian, but apparently everyone held Hunter in high regard. I am sure someone can tell us if Rudolf and Hunter knew each other and worked together at any time.

His statement is that the pages showing the descents "are of the greatest value to the history fo the Robert McKay family of Virginia, and should rank, I believe, with the Fairfax Suit and the Quaker records in basic information of the family's genealogy and history."

Can somebody can to Virginia and see if this document still exists?

This is not a question of Hunter Branson McKay and E. Rudolf McKay nature as people.

Whether they were good historians or not. I did not know E. Rudolf McKay, Hunter B. McKay was my great-uncle, met him many times.

You seem to continue to miss the point or do not want to address it.

As soon as Thomas Green compiled his report from whatever sources he used or not not use, his work became a Secondary Sources, without naming his sources !!!

I have already pointed out to you and your other McCarty cousins the marriage bond to support marriages between two McKay woman and two McCarty does not exist in Shenandoah Co. VA, where the other five children of James MacKay Sr. lived. Where are the three bonds ?

It doesn't matter what is written on Thomas Green Report, other legal documents in Shenandoah Co. VA do not support his claim that James MacKay Sr. had additional daughters.

Where are the sources material to prove what other are assuming Thomas Green wrote down is correct ?

Already found that the father of Wm. Nelson PURCHASED land from Robert MacKay Jr. You have say that the report implied these were the children of James MacKay. Perhaps you are assuming something which Thomas Green did not know was true.

If Wm. Nelson had a claim on the lands that were under the grant from the MacKay family, from his father Henry, perhaps Thomas Green picked up that fact and being a relationship of blood between a wife of Wm. Nelson, Mary being a McKay.

Where was Wm. Nelson married ? And was his bride a member of the McKay ? Sources !!!

I'm just pointing out that you raised the issue of trying to assure accuracy you invoked the name of Hunter McKay. I'm just pointing out that Hunter McKay apparently had a role in preparing this document (not in writing it, but in annotating it and putting it in outline form) and appears to have believed it to be one of the most important documents for McKay research yet discovered. I have always wanted to see the original or find somebody who can tell us more about this document.

If we all waited for marriages in the early South as evidence, most of use could stop researching now.

You can not down play the fact that the known heirs of James MacKay Sr.'s FIVE children's marriage bond are in existance in Shenandoah Co. VA, where they should be found. Since James MacKay Sr. came to that location as a young man and died in the same location on the land which his father willed to him.

But on the other hand, where are the marriage records of Wm. Nelson, Isaac McCarty & Jonathan McCarty ? My guess is that the McCarty's clan doesn't know where.

My late Hunter B. McKay would applause any work that had to do with McKay family. To compare a undocumented simple document to the Fairfax Land Suit, Hopewell Friends Records or other legal documents is just wrong.

I know the man and you do not.

If the descendants of Wm. Nelson, Isaac McCarty & Jonathan McCarty think you have the ancestry of Robert MacKay Sr., your BELIEF is based only on one poorly document (which the original you-all have not viewed) a compiled document in 1825 (which the author of it did not name his sources) which was again compiled from a compiled source in 1965, which is in dispute not by the comments of my late uncle Hunter B. McKay but with legal document which today can be found among Shenandoah Co. VA records.

I would start with square one as to the families that the wives of Wm. Nelson, Isaac McCarty & Jonthan McCarty belonged. Not found among "my" McKay--Robert MacKay Sr.

James & Mary McKay/McCoy of Frederick Co. VA

October 22 1999 at 1:16 PM

In Wilmer L. Kerns book called "Settement and Some First Families in Back Creek Valley", speaks of a couple James McCoy/McKay his widow by 1761 Mary had married James Caudy. Said Caudy wanted the 369 acres that had been granted to said James McCoy by "evil" Lord Fairfax (to decendants of the real Robert MacKay Sr.) but a John Capper claimed that he had purchased said land from James McCoy before he died. The matter was settled by Lord Fairfax in Nov 1762.

Who was this James McCoy ? Did he and Mary have children ? We know he did not belong to the family of Robert MacKay Sr. Are these the McCoy who removed to TN and which the late Bill Jobe confused with James MacKay Sr. (son of Robert Sr.) stated in his Jobe/Job Journal that he removed to TN; which we know is wrong.

Was there a connection with this group of McCoy and the ones in Fauquier Co. VA ?

My father got information from the Hopewell Friends History and Hunter B. Mackay of Belmont, Mass. re a James McKay, Sr. He was born about 1710 probably in New Jersey. He married Mary Chester. They had 8 children: James, Jr., Robert, Susannah, Hannah, Edith, Mary, Nancy and Lydia. He died in August 1797 in Shenandoah Co., VA. According to my records this James McKay was the son of Robert McKay, Sr. 1680-1752 who was married to Ann Brown. Does this help?

Two Different Couples named James & Mary McKay March 12 2001, 7:46 AM

The trouble is there were two different couples James McCoy/McKay married a Mary.......? not our group of McKay. I do not know where and who the parents of this James were. He could have had a relationship with Alexander McKay of Shenandoah Co. VA listed on the first census, or John McKay from Northumberland Co. VA who purchased property in Frederick/Shenandoah Co. VA from Lord Fairfax.

m Mary Chuk

And there was James MacKay Sr. who married Mary Chester, they had five children: James Jr. (dec'd before his father), Lydia, Susanna, Robert & Nancy McKay. We know his father was Robert MacKay Sr. His parentage unknown as this time.

I have no evidence and no one has offered any that the above James & Mary (Chester) MacKay had any other children than the ones stated in his will, his estate division and attorney appointments.

What evidence or documentation do you have they had other children ?

Hunter Branson McKay was my great-uncle I have all his works. How are you related to the family of Robert MacKay Sr.

The Moses McKay who went to Ohio is the son of Andrew Mackay, son of Robert Mackay Jr., son of Robert Mackay Sr.

This Moses married Abigail Shinn and is the ancestor of those who primarily attend the Collett-McKay picnic.

Robert Mackay Sr. had a son name Moses Mackay as well. He would be the great-uncle of the Moses mentioned above.

Robert McKay

June 15 2000, 9:24 PM

This Robert McKay is son of James McKay and Mary Chester, but he applied in Indiana. He lived in Milton Twp. in Jefferson Co., Ind. near the Ohio River, near the Switzerland Co. border on the East. The Moses McKay that lived in this immediate area, that I am aware of, was Moses, son of James McKay and Patsy Johnston, son of Robert's brother James and Mary Cheek. This Moses owned land about two miles to the east of Robert (but in Switzerland Co.

Probably common names

I'll bet that Moses & Robert are pretty common names in our family altogether. In the Winchester area where I live we've got a few folks in the family named Robert at least.

James McCoy/McKay ?

Posted by: D.A. Buck Date: October 11, 1999 at 12:36:54

From Wilmer L. Kerns' book "Settlement and Some First Families in Back Creek Valley" page 404.

"Frederick County during the early 1730's. The name McKay is spelled various ways in records: "McCoy" and "McKee"

"By 1761, James Caudy, the well-known Indian fighter of Capon Bridge had married the widow of James McCoy. Caudy expected to inherit the 369 acres that had been granted to McCoy, by virtue of his marriage to widow McCoy. However, John Capper claimed that he had purchased the land from McCoy prior to McCoy's death, Capper, however, could not prove ownership because he had neither a deed nor a legal transfer. This dispute created a feud between Caudy and Capper, which continued for several years. Finally, Lord Fairfax decided to settle the dispute and he called both Capper and Caudy into his office on the Saturday of November 1762.

After hearing both sides of the case, Fairfax was sympathetic to all parties involved: to Capper for paying for land that he didn't get; to Mrs. Caudy (previously the widow McCoy), in deference to her late husband; and to Caudy. A new survey was presented on Nov. 26, 1762 and referring to this document, Fairfax granted Caudy 165 acres and Capper was granted 204 acres of McCoy's orginal 369 areas. Caudy later deeded land to Michael Capper, son of John Capper, and Michael lost the land because of delinquent taxes."

Does anyone know which group of McKay/McKee/McCoy etc....the deceased James McCoy belonged to, for he did not belong to my group of MacKay, started by Robert Sr.

My Robert MacKay Sr. & Lord Fairfax had a feud going of their own resulting in the Fairfax Land Suit.

Thank you for your time.

Robert McKay and the Thomas Green papers

October 21 1999 at 10:56 PM

Pat Chandler recently sent me a copy of the original the Thomas Green Papers from the Virginia Historical Society. While we still need to determine who Thomas Green was exactly (I assume he was related to the Green family of Green, Hite, Duff & McKay fame,) it is clear the this a document that is contemporaneous with the lives of the disputed children of James McKay and Mary Chester. The facts listed in the document are consistent with the 31st Dec. 1823 date placed on a page labeled "Remarks on the foregoing Page." The comments and the chart are also consistent with a document prepared by someone in Virginia, who had limited knowledge about the family further West.

For example. The Remarks page starts with the comment that "Robert McKay-Exor of James-son of Grantee-was alive in summer 1822-living hear the mouth of Kentucky River." This is basically true. Robert McKay who married Lydia Leith lived on the bulge of land on the Switzerland-Jefferson Co. border and it is roughly opposite the mouth of the Kentucky River in Jefferson Co., and directly opposite in Lamb in Switzerland Co. Robert's land in Jefferson Co. bordered Switzerland Co. This document was obviously designed with the idea of identifying parties with interests in continuing the Fairfax lawsuit. Here is the most trenchant comment to that effect: "Andrew McKay was Agent (by Act of Assembly) of all the McKays–But his Agency does not survive, and the suits must be revised in the names of the following persons. Viz:" It then lists eight lines and traces descent from Robert the grantee to the people then living, largely executors. In fact the remarks note "the following Table does not pretend to show the whole genealogy of the family, but the heirs at law, devisees, & Executors only."

The chart is a descending line chart from Robert McKay, the grantee, following different lines to different generations to the knowledge of the author. For example, it gives Nancy McKay who married Ebenezer Leith as "Alive in Alabama with several children," which fits the facts I know.
In particular, the chart, (as copied in 1956 by Rudolf McKay and annotated and organized into a Outline form by Hunter B. McKay) lists the five children of James McKay and Mary Chester, as mentioned in his will, along with the disputed three, Hannah, Edith, and Mary, also shown as their children. The chart specifically says "Hannah md. Isaac McCarty–Edith m. Jnoan (the an are superscripts which do not reproduce in this forum) McCarty–Mary md. Wm. Nelson." These are the main facts in dispute.

Johnston

What should be noted is that the chart lists the children of James McKay (who married Mary Cheek, but the chart does not list Mary) as James, Robt, Zach. Moses, Abram, Leah m. Jesse Feugit, Polly md. Vann, and Nancy md. Ro. McKay." Outside of the odd spelling of Feugit and Vann (Thomas Vaughn who married Mary McKay), the list is accurate. Surely there could be names incorrectly copied since the author obviously didn't know the names of all children of all heirs. But why would the author correctly copy the children of James McKay and Mary Cheek, and other families, and incorrectly insert the name of three bogus daughters?

Pat Chandler also sent me a time line regarding Isaac McCarty, Jonathan's brother. His abstract is as follows: "Isaac McCarty in the Cty of Nelson, State of Kentucky from James McKay of Cty of Shenandoah, Virginia. Power of Atty respecting a certain piece of land located by Richard Parker Deed Book H Page 2, 30 Sept. 1790 in Shenandoah.

What should we make of the omission of Mary, Hannah, and Edith from James McKay's will?
All three women were in Kentucky–so perhaps they were beyond his reach. He certainly didn't divided his land equally among his children. We certainly can't simply dismiss the Green papers out of hand. Moreover, the fact that Isaac McCarty had a power of attorney from a James McKay also ties Isaac to this family.

Charles D. Nelson Mary McKay wife of William Nelson January 8 2001, 9:34 AM

Several researchers have identified the wife of my gggg grandfather William Nelson as a Mary McKay, daughter of James McKay. Mary (?) and William were married in Woodstock, Dunmore County, Colony of Virginia, approximately 1770. My ggggg grandfather Henry Nelson was a justice of said county and also a vestryman of Beckford Parish. They leased their land in 1783 and moved, along with the rest of the Nelson and Sevier families to what is now Washington County Tennessee. Mary McKay would have been in the Washington County, Tennessee area when the will of James was written. Any help would be appreciated.

Guess you still have not found the documentation for the family names of the three women in question.
Sorry you are still looking at the wrong family.

Found the Nelson linkage, found in the Fairfax Land Suit--LEGAL DOCUMENT--

If you-all have the parentage right for Wm. Nelson who married a Mary........?.

His father Henry Nelson "laid claim to the lands which he holds within the said survey by purchase from Robert McKay the son of Robert McKay for which he passed his bond dated December 28th 1763."

That could be what Thomas Green picked up as a relationship of marriage.

If you are a descendant of Wm. & Mary Nelson, I would look elsewhere for her parentage.

And would suggest the McCarty family does so as well.

In light of the e-mail I have received concerning this matter. I have attempted to put all my cards on the table.

1. James MacKay Sr. will named only five children.

2. Legal documents in Shenandoah Co. VA including land deeds & attorney appointments clearly show that James MacKay Sr. (son of Robert MacKay Sr.) had FIVE legal heirs. His son James Jr. had EIGHT children who sue for his portion of the estate of James Sr.

3. All of the five legal heirs of James MacKay, their marriage bonds can be found in Shenandoah Co. VA, no bonds found for Mary, Edith or Edith McKay.

4. All the McCarty researcher it would appear keep only coming back to the Thomas Green Report, a compiler who doesn't name his sources. In fact he could not have been using the same land deeds in Shenandoah Co. VA that I have seen. If a James MacKay sold land to Mr. Nelson or Mr. McCarty, he could have decided this prove relationship, which of course it doesn't not.

5. What original records exist that:

Wm. Nelson married Mary.........? where and when.

Isaac McCarty married Hannah.......? where and when.

Jonathan McCarty married Edith........? where and when.

If they were the siblings of the five where are their marriage bonds ? I find it very odd they were not married in the same location. Also check all the surrounding VA counties.

The late Bill Jobe in his "Job/Jobe Journal" wrote that the above James MacKay Sr. died in TN, just because he published that gem, doesn't make it true.

I can not prove a negative, those who descend from Wm. Nelson, Isaac McCarty & Jonathan McCarty burden on them to prove their wives were members a McKay family.

Already e-mail you a response.

What you have is a secondary source, I need to see the original. There were various different McKay/Mckey/Mckee families living in that part of Shenandoah Valley.

If James MacKay had eight children, they would have been mentioned in the Fairfax Land Suit, his nephew Andrew McKay who maintained this "Family Problem" with Lord Fairfax would need to have their names.

What I have seen in legal land deed in Shenandoah Co. VA doesn't support the idea that James McKay had EIGHT children. Just the ones named in his will.

I have serious doubts as to the correct nature of Thomas Green's report, either in how he compiled it or now it was compiled by later historians.

Do you have legal documents that name Mary Nelson was sister to Robert McKay of IN ? Or any other document which names any of the other three daughters are siblings of the five named in a legal document like his will & land deeds.

Land was very important in those day and to a McKay a family birthright, if those three had claims on the James McKay Land when being sold in VA, they would have stood up.

Sources !!!!!

Found in Chalkley Vol 1 page 26 list

Alexander McKay named with a group of people to build a road in court 18 Mar 1746. So we have an adult McKay in the Valley either the same age group as Robert MacKay Sr. or the generation of his children.

He can not be a member of the same McKay family.

Same volume page 373 mentions court case
Wm. Morris vs Alexander McCoy dated 28 Mar 1774 defendant is a schoolmaster and lives in Hampshire Co. VA.

same source page 391 mentions a Alexander & John McCoy living in 1785 Rockbridge area of VA.

As far as Nelson & McCarty children being descendants of Robert MacKay Sr. & of his son James McKay Sr., his will does not mention but four children & the children of one deceased son. And when the descendants of said James McKay Sr. left VA each heir claimed 1/5 portion of his estate. No mention of Nelson or McCarty families in connection with James MacKay Sr. of Shenandoah Co. VA.

The above three additional daughters were first published in the book called "The Virginia Exiles" by Vining. I have not been able as of now to studied a copy of said book. But Beatrice M. Doughtie mentioned in her letter to Hunter B. McKay, the author failed to cite his sources.

So I must conclude to date, I have a secondary source adding additional issue to a man (James McKay) who's will fails to name them and later land deed in Shenandoah Co. VA fail to mention said daughters.

Must conclude the documentation exist only for the following children for James McKay (son of Robert Sr.): James, Robert, Susannah, Nancy & Lidia McKay.

Could this be part of the Alexander C McKAY line that went to Rusk and Leon Cos TX? If so, he was the father of SD (we think Samuel), George C, and Charles A. Charles A was b 1824 TN. By 1840 this family was in TX.

I'm sure a professional genealogist need not be reminded that not all children are necessarily listed in a will, especially if the children have already been given what was granted before the person died & before the will was written.

A "professional genealogy" must accept the facts as they are and not as we wish them to be.

Based on original records, wills, attorney appointments and estate division, James MacKay son of Robert had five children.

What are your sources for more children ?

Switzerland County: A Tale of Boundaries

By Robert W. Scott

© May, 2003

The area that is now Switzerland County, which has been under six different county governments, began as an unorganized area of the Territory Northwest of the Ohio River, whose government began keeping records on July 9, 1788. There were earlier counties, but none covered this territory until on June 20, 1790, the governor created Knox County, which encompassed modern Indiana, along with the area that became Michigan. The boundaries extended East to what was to become the Indian-Ohio boundary, but which bordered then on Hamilton County, which was created on Jan 1, 1790.

At this point, any European visitors to Switzerland County would have been traders or trappers, or perhaps adventurous farmers, planting crops on the north side of the river, but living south of it. Because the land east of the treaty line still belonged to the Indians until 1795, and since Jefferson County and that part of Switzerland County west of the Greenville Treaty line were not acquired until 1805, any European settlers prior to that time were technically violating the law. No official government could exist until the federal government acquired the land. This occurred in Aug. 3, 1795, with the declaration of the Greenville Treaty line, to extend from Fort Recovery to the Ohio River opposite the mouth of the Kentucky River, the area now known as Lamb. However, a survey was not created until Israel Ludlow began running the line at its northern end in June 1797.

There is a hint of settlement in Switzerland County at this time. On Nov. 28, 1795, the Kentucky legislature authorized the creation of the town of Preston (modern Prestonville) on the south side of the Kentucky River at its meeting with the Ohio in what was then Shelby County, Ky., and also authorized ferries across the Ohio and Kentucky Rivers. No one was licensed for either ferry, but the act suggests some settlement had occurred, or perhaps hunters and farmers were crossing the river.

The treaty, however, did not change the county boundaries and with the Knox County seat at Vincennes, the lack of law enforcement gave the area a bad reputation and created a call to attach the eastern part of the area to Hamilton County, whose seat was much closer Cincinnati.

According to an entry made by Winthrop Sargent, the territorial secretary on Jan. 8, 1798, "Immediately over the great miami (In Knox County) report makes them nearly two hundred Families, amongst whom are many that have fled from this County merely to defraud their Creditors--their very remote situation from many of the magistrates of the County of Knox effects such purpose--and I forbear to commission any amongst them to the administration of Justice, or to annex them to Hamilton County lest it might be construed to imply an Encouragement of the Settlement." This came as the government was making strenuous efforts to discourage hunting, trapping, and actual settlement. However, the area immediately over the Great Miami would have been around Lawrenceburg.

The cry would not be stilled and on June 22, 1798, the territorial government approved an alteration of the boundary that pushed the western boundary of Hamilton County to the Greenville Treaty line. That put most of Switzerland County in Hamilton County, with about half of modern Pleasant Township and a third of modern Craig Township still in Knox County. But because there were county governments does not mean there were sufficient settlements to require governmental services. Almost all the appointments in Knox County in these first few years involved the settlement around Vincennes or Clarksville. In fact, other than Clarksville, most early appointments came in the French settlements at Detroit, Kaskaskia, and Cahokia.

The first record that can be connected with someone known to have lived in the area comes with the appointment of Jonathan McCarty as a Justice of the Peace for Hamilton County on Aug. 6, 1799. Jonathan's daughter Lydia married Gershom Lee on December 3, 1800 in Gallatin Co., Ky. Because the Lees can be proved to have lived at the mouth of the Kentucky River from 1790 on, the conclusion is that Jonathan probably lived in the Lamb area when he was appointed. But no other appointments, either justices or militia officers, can be found before 1800 that can be pegged to this area.

Indiana became a territory, whose government commenced operation on July 4, 1800. At this point, the area east of the treaty line remained in Hamilton County, Northwest Territory, while the small part to the west of it was in Knox County, Indiana Territory. On Feb. 3, 1801, the governor divided Knox County to form Clark, which ran to the Greenville Treaty boundary, thus taking in the western portions of modern Pleasant and Craig Twp. He also stipulated that all previous territorial appointees maintained their positions (presumably people like McCarty). With the creation of Indiana Territory, the triangle of land between the treaty line and the modern Indian-Ohio treaty became what was known as the Gore. This was eventually solved with the creation of the modern state boundary. (The last entry in the Executive Journal of Northwest Territory came on Jan. 15, 1803.)

On Jan. 24, 1803, the land between the treaty line and the Ohio border became part of Clark County, Indiana Territory. But that was a temporary situation as Dearborn County was created on March 7, 1803, with Lawrenceburg named as the county seat. (The History of Switzerland County, which was reissued by the Switzerland County Historical Society, says that the county was formed in 1801. This volume is one part of what was originally the History of Dearborn, Ohio, and Switzerland Counties, which largely copied Perret Dufour's writing, and apparently simply copied its mistake regarding the year.) On Aug. 30, 1803, Jonathan McCarty was appointed a justice for Dearborn. (McCarty is not to be confused with his nephew of the same name, general and Congressman Jonathan McCarty, who was born in 1795) Jefferson County was created on Nov. 23, 1810 with its eastern border extending to Log Lick Creek, leaving the eastern part of the modern county, most of Posey and part of York Townships as part or Dearborn Counties. The county government formally organized at Madison on Jan. 11, 1811.

On Sept. 7, 1814, Switzerland County was created. The "horn" that extends on the western end of Pleasant Township northward, extended six miles further north into what is now Ripley County. It apparently reached just south of Cross Plains. That horn, then part of Ross Township, was attached to Ripley County, with the southern part of Ross becoming part of Pleasant Township.

Most of Switzerland County was originally part of Jefferson Township, one of three townships created when Jefferson County began functioning on Feb. 11, 1811. The other two townships, Madison and Washington, were largely within modern Jefferson County. Madison Township extended to the Indian (Greenville Treaty line) boundary on the east and to the county boundary on the north, including portions of Switzerland County, and all of what is now Ripley County. However, the Jefferson Township line was soon extended west to the line separating range 12 and 11, incorporating a tier of townships that are now in Shelby and Milton Townships in Jefferson County. The date at which the townships were returned to their original boundaries (the modern county line) has not been discovered.

Unfortunately, for genealogists, knowing these changes does little good in terms of finding records. Dearborn County records burned in 1826. But this may not have been as severe a loss as it would seem for most of Switzerland County, since most of the county was part of Clark from 1809 on. Judging from the surviving Clark records, few entries (no deeds and wills, and few marriages) involve to residents of Switzerland and Jefferson Counties. They simply were not recorded or perhaps, on the case of marriages, many were recorded in Kentucky. Records lost in the fire probably affected the Lawrenceburg area the most.

Original patents that were issued by the Cincinnati and later Jeffersonville land offices survive and have been published. Records of the Indiana Territory exist, giving us some justice of the peace and militia appointments.

Some marriage records were certainly lost, but many residents simply crossed the river to Kentucky for ceremonies, rather than travel to Vincennes, Clarksville, or Cincinnati. Perret Dufour made this point in his writings during the mid-1800s, although he did not point to specific marriages. However, those that would seem to fall into this category include the marriage of Heathcoat Pickett's daughter Nancy to Nicholas Lentz in 1795 in Gallatin Co., Ky. and on July 11, 1797 when his Mary daughter married Robert Drake in Franklin County, Ky. (Pickett is generally recognized as the first European settler of Switzerland County, from about 1795.)

The marriage of Jonathan McCarty's daughter Lydia has been mentioned and that of daughter Nancy to James Wilson in Gallatin County on Sept. 17, 1801. Moreover, Paul Froman, McCarty's cousin, married Kesiah Pickett in Hamilton County on Nov. 13, 1800. The wide geography between these filings can easily be explained by assuming these families lived along the river between Lamb and Vevay.

A transcription of marriage records, made by a minister before the Hamilton County courthouse burned in 1884, shows the marriage was performed by Justice Jonathan County. This seems certain to be Jonathan McCarty as Froman was his first cousin. A second marriage performed by justice Jonathan County was that of Polly Netherland to David Owen by "Jonathan County" on Oct. 12, 1800. Because the Netherlands lived in the Switzerland County area, it appears this is also a Switzerland County marriage. Although it is not certain the minister transcribed all pioneer marriages, it still suggests that few from Switzerland County were ever registered prior to the creation of Jefferson County.

Another marriage that seems to fit this pattern is that of John Hall, son of Rev. War Soldier William Hall, to Elizabeth House in 1803 in Gallatin County, Ky. However, since both Halls had been appointed as militia in 1802 in Hamilton Co., along with Pickett, and William signed a petition on behalf of George Ash's land claims the same year, it seems likely the Halls were part of this settlement.

(This narrative relies heavily on data from the Executive Journal of the Northwest Territory. A transcription is viewable at http://www.ohiohistory.org/onlinedoc/northwest/exjournal/ and from the Executive Journal of Indiana Territory, reprinted by the Indiana Historical Society.in 1985.

ken except by Indian trails; through these tangled woods ranged bears, deer, wolves, and panthers. Civilization had not yet left its imprint upon the landscape.

The Delaware were among many tribes forced to leave the Ohio Territory by the Treaty of Greenville in 1795. The treaty provided land for all the displaced tribes in the Indiana Territory. The Delaware were given permission to settle along the west fork of White River by the Miami who claimed the land by virtue of their occupation many years earlier. The government had no objection.

Protection, water and soil

Located on the left bank of White River, Wapeminskink was first settled by no more than fifteen or sixteen families. The site was selected in keeping with three criteria important to the Delaware. It must be elevated which allowed them to see an approaching enemy; have an abundant water supply nearby, and have fertile soil for growing food.

The site chosen afforded all three as the village was situated on bluffs 75 feet above White River. Scattered throughout the site were numerous springs flowing with fresh water. To the north of the village was a flat fertile area where corn and other vegetables were planted. The surrounding forests were teeming with game and numerous blackberries, and the river had abundant supply of food.

At its largest size, the village was spread over an area that today would include St. Mary's Church on the south to the Madison County Jail on the north.

The river was its eastern boundary with possibly some habitation on the east side of the river. Its western boundary would have included the area where the Madison County Court House now stands.

Altogether this area encompassed approximately 30 acres. It was marked with gullies and ravines that led to White River. The deepest ravine was near the present corner of Eleventh and Main Streets. A stream that rose in the southwest part of present day Anderson flowed through here on its way to the river.

Conner's description

We know the Indians maintained a large field in the rich bottom lands on the south side of the river stretching from about the intersection of Fifth and Main Streets westward along the river.

In the beginning it was not this large but, as the population of the village grew to about 1,000 in 1818, more food was needed and the planting ground was expanded westward to almost Madison Avenue.

Situated about where St. Mary's Church is located was the Long-House or Council House.

John Conner, brother of William Conner and a frequent visitor to Wapeminskink, left an excellent description of the place where the Indians held their sacrifices and dances.

"It was built of split logs set together between dug-in posts, with a roof, consisting of tree-bark or clapboards, resting on strong pillars dug into the earth. The two entrances were located at both gable-ends, and there was neither floor nor ceiling. Near both ends

A typical Delaware Wigwam. They were various sizes depending upon the number of inhabitants and use.

We know it as Anderson. The early settlers called it Andersontown, and before them the traders in the area called it Anderson's Town. But the first inhabitants, the Delaware Indians, called it Wapeminskink.

It was the home of the Delaware Indian Chief, William Anderson; hence the name Anderson.

The name Wapeminskink (Wap e min skink) means Chestnut Tree Place. The Delaware named their village for the magnificent trees that once populated this area but fell victim to Chestnut Blight. The fungus was accidentally introduced to North America around 1900-1908, and by 1940 mature trees were virtually wiped out by the disease including those in our area.

The village was described as being surrounded by dense forests, dark and shadowy, unbroken except by Indian trails; through these tangled woods ranged bears, deer, wolves, and panthers. Civilization had not yet left its imprint upon the landscape.

The two entrances were located at both gable-ends, and there was neither floor nor ceiling. Near both ends and in the middle, there were fires over which hung large kettles in which corn and meat were boiled for the guests and always kept in readiness for them to eat, when finished with the dance. In the roof there were openings over every fire, so that the smoke could escape.

The Delaware Long-House or Council House. Normally there was one in each village and was the place where visitors were welcomed, important issues discussed, and socialization such as dancing occurred.

"Along the inside of the house there were seats or elevations from the ground about a foot high and five feet wide. These were first covered with the bark of trees and then with long grass. On them the guests sat, or, if they felt like it, lay down and smoked their pipes, while the others were engaged in dancing."

The village was situated along the bluff which was much more pronounced than it is today. Over the years the sharpness of the bluff was reduced when the streets were put in and graded. The area was dotted with both wigwams and log houses. Wigwams were round or oval shaped huts, formed of poles overlaid with bark, mats, or skins.

A trail for trade

We also know that part of the village was along the river as houses located there had three to four feet of flood water standing in them after White River flooded on March 9, 1805.

The Delaware burial ground was located where the Anderson City Building stands today. The area was roughly bounded by Eighth Street to near the Gruenewald House, and Central Avenue to Main Street.

There was another important consideration in the chief's mind when he selected the village site. Two forks of a famous trail that was vital to travel through the wilderness converged here.

The trail was called the Conner Trail and it followed an already historic Indian trail which started at the mouth of the Miami River near Cincinnati wending its way past John Conner's trading post southeast of Brookville.

It ran north through Connersville and then followed a northerly direction passing New Castle. Two miles north of New Castle the trail forked. The east fork proceeded to Old Town Hill, southeast of Muncie. The west fork turned slightly northwest until it reached Wapeminskink.

After leaving Muncie the east fork traversed the countryside north of White River, and roughly paralleling it, until it crossed to the south side of the river at Wapeminskink. After crossing the river the fork ascended the river bank and, at the top of the bank, it joined the west fork and became one trail again.

This junction today is at or within a few feet of the intersection of Wheeler and Cincinnati Avenues in Anderson as the later avenue closely follows the old west fork of Conner Trail as it entered the southeast edge of Wapeminskink.

The Conner Trail then passed through the village and exited on its west side following closely what are today west Eighth Street and Eighth Street Road almost to Strawtown in Hamilton County. Here it crossed to the north side of the river to intersect with an Indian village east of Strawtown. After leaving the village the trail again crossed to the south side of the river and continued southwest passing through Noblesville until it reached William Conner's trading post at what is today Conner Prairie Farm.

Not only did this important trail allow the flow of goods between John and William Conner's trading posts and points east, it was the major route traversed by the Indians when visiting the villages along the river. Chief Anderson chose wisely when he placed his village at the junction of the forks of this historic trail.

For more information visit the Madison County History Center, 15 W 1th Street, Anderson, which is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The John Paul DAR transcriptions of the 1940s list this cemetery as being on the Risk farm on the county line. The DAR places this cemetery as being known as the Conner or Means graveyward in Section 1. Jefferson County Road maps show it by name Conner cemetery in the NE1/4 of neighboring Section 2, just to the west, just south of the county (Ripley) line road.

A number of the McKays in this family moved from Nelson Co., Ky., where they lived in the 1790s, to Jefferson Co., Ind., by 1818. Most returned to Kentucky by 1830.

An 1818 petition in Milton Twp., Jefferson Co., was signed by Uriah McKay, William McKay (believe his brother) and James, Thomas and William O'Neal (listed as Neals, but with a middle initial O.) Also signing was John Lanham who married Nancy O'Neal.

I believe these McKays were children of Richard Hebb McKay and I'm sure I can dig up most of these family, as their marriages are recorded. I believe this family is listed in the large volume, The Mackeys and Allied Families by Beatrice Doughty. I belive Samuel, William, and Uriah are in the 1820 Jefferson Co., Ind., census.

There's very little chance your line is connected with the Robert MCKAY line through his son MOSES. Your Richard McKay was bornin Scotland after the Robert McKay family had beenin the U.S. for at least two decades. Also, I can find no documentaiton for Moses McKay having a son named Richard.

Richard,Uriah/Hugh,Eleanor,Susan McKay

Looking for KY or VA area McKay's to trace the ancestry of my line, Richard's son Uriah/ Hugh married Elizabeth O'Neal and daughter Eleanor married George O'Neal (the O'neal's should be half-siblings of father John O'Neal's first two marriages), and Susan McKay who married William Richard Milton. Any help on finding this line would be much appreciated!

There are many, many McKays in that part of Indiana who are not a part of Richard's family. Until I check to be sure, I would say that Uriah/Hugh was the only one of Richard's family there. I have long been curious about the other McKays, and wonder if they could be from another branch from Md., but as well as I can remember all the rest of Richard's sons stayed in Nelson Co., Ky. Of course, Uriah's children were there with HIM.
William McKay, son of Richard, lived and died in Nelson Co.
I think you are right about the O'Neals there, although there is no documentary evidence that they are John's children (other than James and Nancy). Nevertheless I think they are.

Richard, I am working on a McKay/McCoy line which may tie into your's. I don't have much.

I have a Richard McKay, b. 1745, Scotland. Married (1) Nancy Ann Hebb, (2) Margaret Shumate, 12/9/1794 and (3) Mary Murphy, 6/8/1797. Richard had 8 children of which on was Richard, Jr. Mary Murphy, wife 3, was mother of Sally Murphy who married her step-brother Richcard McKay, Jr. They hand a child named Sallie Ann McKay, who married Daniel S. Berry in Nelson County, Kentucky on 11 Aug 1836. Sallie Ann McKay died in Union county, Kentucky sometime between 1870-80.

Part 10; Pages 314 - 319 (contains information pertaining to Adair County)

In Adair County, the epidemic of Cholera was confined to the town of Columbia, to one locality of that town, and to a few cases who, having visited the infected locality, returned to their homes in the surrounding country.

Columbia has a population of about six hundred inhabitants. Very few negroes reside within the corporation limits. The town is built upon a hill-side, and is by nature most admirably drained. The arrangement of the town is upon a square, in the center of which stands the court-house, and from the square streets are laid off to the north, south, east, and west.

Opposite the court-house, and at the corner of the street leading north, is a hotel known as the Winfrey House. Upon the side street, and opposite to the hotel, is a large barn which is used as a livery and sale stable, under the charge of the proprietor of the hotel. In the rear of this stable is a large covered privy, which was used not only by visitors but by nearly all the male inhabitants of the town.

Columbia has always been considered a healthy town. The epidemics of the past were Cholera in 1833 and 1835, from which disease the town suffered severely; dysentery in the fall of 1849, from which disease over sixty persons died; congestive intermittent fever in 1862, from which disease a large number of persons died; but from that time until 1873 no disease could be classed as epidemic.

In the month of August,1873, the sanitary condition of the town was bad. The ground around the dwellings, as well as the streets, was covered with debris of all kinds. The privies, with the exception of that in rear of the Winfrey House stables, were built on the surface. Stables, pig-pens, chicken-houses were unclean, and around them human excrement was mixed with other debris. The rear premises of the Winfrey House were even in worse condition that is ordinarily observed at country hotels. The rear of the lot upon which the stable stands is lower than the surrounding lots which had been built upon. The privy was over a pit dug into the ground, but this pit was full to overflowing with excrement and the washings of the yard after each rain-fall being into it, the ground in all directions was saturated with the fluid contents of this pit. The rear windows of a row of brick buildings that face upon the public square open into this stable-yard.

An effort was made early in August by the physicians of the town to improve the sanitary condition. In some instances they succeeded in inducing the property-holders to clean their premises, and an effort was directed toward at least the stable of the Winfrey House; this effort was opposed by the proprietor as an unwarrantable interference with his property.

On the 29th day of August a negro boy, fourteen years of age, who had been as a hostler at the Marion County fair, returned to Columbia and went to work at the stables of the Winfrey House. He had a diarrhea when he arrived, and during the evening made frequent use of the stable-privy. At an early hour the next day (August 30), a negro man who was in charge of these stables was suddenly taken with Cholera. He was carried into a basement-room of the hotel where he died after an illness of forty-eight hours. About 8 o'clock a.m. the same day, the boy whose arrival from Lebanon has been noted, was found in a mule-shed adjoining the stable in collapse. He was carried into the stable preparatory to being placed in a bed, but died in a few moments. Later in the same day, a young lady twenty years of age, the eldest daughter of Mr. WINFREY, who resided some fifteen miles from the town, upon Carey's Creek, but who had been in the town on the previous day, and who was known to have used the stable-privy, was attacked at her home with the same disease, and died after six hours' illness. This outbreak of the disease occurred at a time when the town of Columbia was full of non-residents. The circuit court was in session, and a large number of strangers were registered at the hotel, where were also congregated a number of regular boarders.

August 31, the proprietor of the hotel was attacked, and died within twelve hours, and during the early hours of the same day five members of the Winfrey family and six boarders at the hotel were taken ill, a total of twelve cases in one house, all being attacked within a few hours of each other, and within eighteen hours eight deaths had occurred.

During this day, all who were able to do so left the house; among others, a Mr. VAUGHN removed his wife to Cane Valley, a small village some eight miles east of Columbia. Then Mr. VAUGHN returned to the Winfrey House to render aid to the sick. At about 3 o'clock p.m. Mrs. VAUGHN was taken with Cholera, and her husband was recalled from the town.

September 1, four persons who had boarded at the hotel were taken sick, and within sixteen hours all had died. Of this group of cases, Dr. Henry OWENS, the rear windows of whose office opened into the stable-yard, and who had been assiduous in his attention to the sick, was, after he was himself attacked, carried to his home in the country, where he died.

Another gentleman, Col. Robert MILLER, who had the day before left the hotel and gone to the Griffin Springs, some six miles distant, was attacked, and died after an illness of sixteen hours. A negro man who had nursed the negro who was the first case reported on the 30th, died after an illness of fifteen hours.

On the same day Mr. VAUGHN, who had left the town on the previous night to nurse his wife sick with Cholera at Case Valley, was taken with the same disease. The lady recovered, but Mr. VAUGHN died after a tedious illness. A white man, fifty years of age, who had used the infected privy on the 30th of August, died at his home on Green River after an illness of fourteen hours; and a young girl living on Casey's Creek, whose father died of Cholera on the 30th, was taken ill and died after ten hours' illness.

September 2, a white boy who had frequented the hotel and stables was attacked but recovered. Two white men, father and son, who had nursed the sick at the hotel, and had made the coffins for some of the dead, were taken ill. The father, aged seventy years, died; the son recovered. A farmer who lived some four miles north of the town, but who had been in the hotel stables the previous day, was taken ill at his home and died in twenty-four hours. A gentleman who had left Columbia on Sunday, August 31, died of Cholera at the hotel at Campbellsville, Taylor County.

During the three following days no new cases occurred.

September 6, a young daughter of Mrs. WINFREY was attacked and recovered.

September 8, four cases occurred in persons who had been exposed to the infection at the hotel. The attack was mild in each instance and all recovered.

September 10, an aged man and his wife, residing in a secluded position some two miles from the town, were both taken with Cholera. The husband recovered; the wife died. It is not known how they were subjected to the infection.

September 20, a man aged seventy-five years was taken with Cholera and died after a few hours' illness, and on the 23d his wife died of the same disease.

After the disease had become epidemic, a general police of the town was made. The Winfrey House was closed. The stable was abandoned after the privy had been disinfected and filled with fresh earth.

It is the opinion of the two physicians who remained in Columbia during the epidemic that in the majority of the cases the excreta were not disinfected, but that they were cast upon the ground around the houses.

A young man who nursed Mr. Winfrey during his illness informed the writer that the dejections of this case were emptied from the window of the room in which the man was sick into a dirty lane which separated the kitchen from the hotel.

By Dr. U.L. TAYLOR of Columbia, to whom we are under obligations for important aid in the collection fo the facts of this demonstration, we are informed that the treatment consisted of calomel, opium, astringents, and stimulants. Dr. Taylor is of the opinion that to the use of calomel the only beneficial results that were obtained should be attributed.

On the 27th of October, 1873, the writer visited the Winfrey House and asked permission to inspect the rooms in which the Cholera cases had occurred. We found that no effort had been made at cleaning beyond a washing of the bed-clothing and brooming of the floors. The mattresses and other beds remained unchanged and the stains of the defections were visible. Under the upper portion of the bed upon which Winfrey had died a number of soiled rags were found, in all probability just as they were tucked beneath the mattress during its last occupancy.

The importance of prompt and immediate cleansing of these rooms, the removal of all soiled articles of property, and a general police of the grounds was most earnestly impressed upon the person in charge of the property, with the only result of eliciting an expression of displeasure at such interference - a closing demonstration of the same foolish obstinacy that had subjected the town to a fearful epidemic.

Hello Bob,

I am a descendant of Jonathan McCarty, whom you mentioned in one of your messages of this thread. I, too, had found information that Spencer O'Neal (Neal) was living with Jonathan's family for a little while, and was wondering why--any ideas?

I can tell you some of the Nelson Co. McCarty history that might help fill in a few blanks. My family holds that Jonathan McCarty was married to Edith McKay (a different McKay family than William Hebb McKay's family, into which Jonathan 's daughter, Rachel, married). All in all, Jonathan and Edith had 13 children, of whom, the following were children in Nelson Co.: Nancy (m. to the doctor, James Wilson), the afore-mentioned Rachel, Enoch (m. to Rebecca Amanda Howard), Mary, (m. to Abraham McKay, of the same McKay line as Edith McKay), Lydia (m. to Gershom Lowery Lee, Jr.), James (m. to Mary Jane "Polly" Benefield), Elizabeth (m. to Joseph Howard), Edith (m. to Lewis Conner), McKay (m. to Nancy Lanham), Greenberry (m. to Lovina Sandford). The remaining two children were born in IN.

One of Jonathan's sisters, Mary McCarty, was married to Paul John Froman and they also lived in KY, where he passed away in Spencer, Lincoln Co.

Hello Bob,

I am a descendant of Jonathan McCarty, whom you mentioned in one of your messages of this thread. I, too, had found information that Spencer O'Neal (Neal) was living with Jonathan's family for a little while. I imagine this was because there were in-law connections between the McKays (who married into the McCartys) and the O'Neals.

I can tell you who some of the Nelson Co. McCartys were. Jonathan McCarty and wife, Edith McKay (a different McKay family than William Hebb McKay's family, into which Jonathan 's daughter, Rachel, married), had a total of 13 children, of whom, the following were either born or spent much of their childhood in Nelson Co.: Nancy (m. to the doctor, James Wilson), the aforementioned Rachel, Enoch (m. to Rebecca Amanda Howard), Mary, (m. to Abraham McKay, of the same McKay line as Edith McKay), Lydia (m. to Gershom Lowery Lee, Jr.), James (m. to Mary Jane "Polly" Benefield), Elizabeth (m. to Joseph Howard), Edith (m. to Lewis Conner), McKay (m. to Nancy Lanham), Greenberry (m. to Lovina Sandford). The remaining two children were born in IN.

One of Jonathan's sisters, Mary McCarty, was married to Paul John Froman and they also lived in KY, where he passed away in Spencer, Lincoln Co. It is possible Jonathan's brother, Benjamin, may have also migrated through KY on the way to IN, which is where most of these two generations of McCartys ended up.

It is interesting that one of Jackie O'Neal's sons, Thomas, married a Sarah

Howard. There is later a Rebecca Amanda Howard whose family was also supposed to be from VA/KY who marries into the McCartys, as well as a Jospeh Howard who married Jonathan's daughter, Elizabeth. I have often wondered if they might not all be relatives. I know there were a lot of Howards living in Nelson Co., but haven't sorted them all out yet.

Uriah "Hugh" McKay, who married Elizabeth O'Neal (daughter of "Jackie"--she apparently was born on Plum Run, the same creek that Jonathan McCarty and his sister, Mary and brother-in-law, Paul Froman lived on) was the brother of William Hebb McKay, and therefore Jonathan McCarty's brother-in-law, as William was married to his sister Rachel.

If you would like to exchange more information, I am happy to oblige. I would enjoy hearing more about the O'Neals and McKays.

Robert McKay – Lydia Leith

Go Back Young Man. Go Back.

Copyright April 2001 by Robert W. Scott, Lake Hiawatha, N.J.

The dominant theme of migration in the United States during the nineteenth century was movement into unsettled regions. That meant largely movement to the West. Areas of the South provided a flow north to the Northwestern Territory. As territory east of the Mississippi filled up, the major flow of immigrants was westward. However, population movement is never a one-way street. There have been estimates that fully one third of all immigrants who passed through Ellis Island returned to Europe, a fact that has been particularly reported regarding the twentieth century Italian immigration.

The proportion of returnees was probably never that high among Americans in the nineteenth century. But whether for reasons involvement family, economics, or perhaps Indian warfare, there were always people moving against the flow. In the early days of Jefferson County, a number of families, including Demarees, McKays, and Lanhams, fled to Kentucky during the Indian troubles of 1811 and 1812, although most returned to Indiana.

Let's face it. In the days of sailing ships and horse-drawn transportation, a major relocation may have meant never seeing your birthplace or your family again. At best, moving across the Appalachians might mean seeing family members a handful of times. Although so many families moved in large clans, there were also some left behind. There must have been a lot of homesick people who decided to pack it in when faced with personal calamities.

The census gives evidence of the returnees, although first-hand testimony as to the reason for reverse migration is hard to product. My grandfather, John Hopper 1903-1996 of Shelby Township, Jefferson County, said he was told that members of the Caledonia Scottish settlement moved to the area around Acton, Ind., but returned because they did not like the swampy conditions. (Acton is in Marion County, very near the border with Shelby County.) While none of the Scots who returned to Southeastern Indiana have been identified, there are others from the North Carolinian families of Milton Township who can be pinpointed. For example, Stovall Wilkins (1806-1889) who married his wife in 1828 in Jefferson County, moved on to Moral Township in Shelby County with his parents and brothers about 1833, but returned to Jefferson County around 1840.

There are other migrants to Shelby County who returned to the Switzerland/Jefferson County area. These include Robert McKay, born ca. 1792, son of Rev. War soldier Robert McKay and Lydia Leith. Robert's brothers William, John, and David would all purchase land in Shelby County in the 1820s and would occupy it briefly, if at all in the case of John and William, before their families moved back south.

It's easier to document families that moved to different states and returned, as opposed to those who simply moved within the state. The 1860 Jefferson County census shows clear evidence that the move west produced a flow in the opposite direction, particularly those who moved to Illinois and Iowa.

The 1860 census shows at least 20 families in Jefferson County that had children that were younger than nine years old and who were born in those two states The clear implication is that the returnees reflect a substantial movement of people who left Indiana after 1850, but were back home again within ten years. Some of these can be documented. Isora Hankins (1858-1943) was born in Richland County, Illinois, on 3 Dec. 1858, according to her obituary. Her parents, William and Eliza Vernon Hankins, moved to Illinois after they marred on 22 Jan. 1858 in Jefferson County. William's father Joseph Hankins 1813-1862 moved to Illinois, but after his death, Joseph's widow Nancy and most of their children, including William, returned to Milton Township.

The movement to Illinois and Iowa at this time was not limited to Jefferson County residents from any one area. The 1860 census shows the returnees spread fairly evenly through the county. (Well actually, it's weighted a bit to the western part of the county). For example, in Hanover Township, the 1860 census shows six families with children under the age of ten who had been born in Illinois, two families with children under ten born in Iowa, one family with a young child born in Arkansas and another similarly aged born in Wisconsin.

The reasons? The case of the Hankins provides one example, the death of the breadwinner, Joseph Hankins seems clearly responsible for that families return. In those days where there were few public assistance programs, people in need turned to their families. Was it economic hardships? A severe winter? Life on the prairie was tough at anytime and before 1860, Indians were still a threat. However, I cannot correlate a major Indian war to this group of returning Hawkeyes.

There are a few lessons here for genealogists. A major one is that not everyone went with the flow. You always need to play the averages, but be alert for exceptions. The other major lesson is to be alert to patterns of migration. People going against the grain, were still on the same road. There are reasons why they left and reasons why they returned to the places they returned to.

You should also pay attention to what the census is saying about your family if you see children with unexpected birth places. Not everyone moved west and not everyone came back. In the case of the Joseph Hankins family, the father died in Illinois, but the mother returned to Indiana and died in Jefferson County. Two sons stayed in Illinois, the others returned in Indiana. So, anyone researching such lines needs to be open to finding the different parts of the family scattered along the way west.

Robert MCKAY who married Lydia LEITH

Does anyone have documentation on the children of Robert McKAY and Lydia Leith. The one source I have lists seven sons. There's a rumor that there may have been eight. The seven I have listed are Robert, Enoch, George, William, David, John, and Joe. I've always wondered if Joe was a bad copy of Jas. or whether James McKay 1788-1863, born Virginia, died Tipton Co., Ind., is the eighth son. James lived in Jefferson Co., Ind., near Robert's family until moving to Tipton Co. He's believed to be brother of George McKay who moved from Carroll Co., Ky. (across the River from Robert McKay's family) to Tipton Co. in the 1850s. John, David, Robert and William all lived much of the time in Jefferson Co., but all owned land in Decatur Co. in the 1820s and 1830s.

Bob,
The information I have only lists seven children. I have not heard of eight. I will look into this some more, though. Sorry I couldn't help any further. Which James are you referring to that move to Tipton Co., IN?

Union Baptist Church (Craig Twp., Switzerland Co.)

Located in Lamb, this church organized in 1841 according to the History of Switzerland Co. (p. 1152.) The original nineteen members included Samuel McKay and wife, Henry Peters and wife, Shadrach Laman (sic Lanham), and wife, John and Sallie Miles, John Stratford, James McKay and wife, Edward Combes and wife, Raleigh McKay and wife. This church drew heavily from the McKay family and allies (Stratford, the Lanhams and Smiths fit this category.) The first meetings were held by Elders Archie Smith and William Wallace, with fifty admitted. Rev. John Graham was chosen as the first pastor and served two years.

The Switzerland Co. History lists the succeeding ministers as Joseph Hawkins (sic Hankins), Thomas Stewart and McDonald (no first name given) and J.D Griffith with 200 people admitted in the first twenty-two years of service. The church was a member of the Madison Association in 1842 with 116 members, according to association minutes. The messengers were J. Miles and H. Peters.

The earliest recorded election of trustees came on April 15, 1843 with the election of John Stratford, Samuel Bray, Thomas Miller, David Cain and Meshack Lanham (Switzerland Co. Deed Book I p. 317.) George Ash deeded land to the church trustees (not listed by name) on June 11, 1844 (Switzerland Co. Deed Book J p. 619.) The church switched to the Long Run Association on the 3rd Saturday Sept. 1852 reporting, eighty five members. The church building standing at the time of the Switzerland County History was built 1845/46 and was once used as a school house. At the time of the history, (1885) membership was 100. The church is still active

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File:

The Pedigree Resource File is a new lineage linked database of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and pedigrees and includes submitted notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.

Same Name—No Connection

One of the most common mistakes for a new genealogist (I've been there, believe me) is to assume that people with the same surname living in the same neighborhood must be related. The thinking goes, "on the frontier, there weren't a lot of people, so all these folks were related."

Just how dangerous this is was underscored a year or two ago when Hall researcher Jim Patrick solved the riddle of Zachariah Hall who married Mary Hall in Jefferson County in 1815. Everyone tried to link Zachariah to the family of William Hall, the Revolutionary War soldier from Pennsylvania, who was Mary's father. They had to be related. Right?

But guess again, Jim found a biography of Richard in a Marion County history which unequivocally states that Zachariah's father was Henry Hall, who immigrated from Germany. The history further states very explicitly that there was no relationship.

Stuff like this can just ruin your day if you've built a family around such assumptions. And there's nothing wrong with making these assumptions. You can't research unless you limit the scope of work by advancing a theory. Still, it's easy to get caught up in trying to lump people of the same last name together, especially if they live in the same neighborhood. After all, on the frontier cousins often married. In the family of Aaron Van Cleave and Elizabeth Griffin of Shelby County, Ky., and later Montgomery Co., Ind., seven of their eleven children who survived to marry, married relatives named Van Cleave, while two of the remaining sisters married brothers named Hedden who were their first cousins. But as the Hall example shows, you can't count on people of the same name being related, even if they live next door to each other. There's nothing peculiar to this lesson to Jefferson and Switzerland County, but for the record, here are some samples of common names in which there are multiple lines in the area.

There are Hutchinsons from New York who lived in Lancaster Township, and Hutchinsons from North Carolina in Milton Township. A researcher in Jefferson County tried to link the family of the Rev. John Graham of Switzerland County, and later of Delaware County, Ind., to the Grahams show settled around the Dupont area. But while John's family was from Pennsylvania and had been in the United States since the mid 1700s at least, the Grahams around Dupont appear to stem from men shown in the 1860 census as Irish Immigrants. Oh yes, toss in a family of Grahams from Scotland who were living in Milton Township from the 1830s on.

There are Neals from Scotland in eastern Jefferson County and Western Switzerland County; Neals from North Carolina (earlier from Maryland) whose origins are unknown in Milton Township; Neals from New England in Lancaster Township and Neals from Ireland in Madison.

There are at least three unrelated McKay families who passed through the area. There's the large group stemming from James McKay, who died in 1797 in the Shenandoah region of Virginia, probably a Scotch-Irish who settled heavily in Craig and Milton Townships. There was a group of apparently Irish McKays, who came from Nelson County, Ky., who settled in Milton Township, and who went against the grain, returning to Kentucky to leave few if any descendants in Indiana. There was a group of Scottish McKays, via North Carolina, who settled around Smyrna and Republican Townships.

One of my favorite examples is the Rogers surname. I can find at least five different Rogers families eastern Jefferson County and western Switzerland, most within a few miles of Pleasant and Moorefield.

Benjamin Rogers, born in North Carolina, settled on Greenbriar Ridge in Milton Township. John Rogers (1792-1882), buried at Brushy Fork cemetery, lived near Pleasant and had a brother Elijah who settled in Brown Township in Ripley County

Rev. war soldier Stephen Rogers, who had sons John and Elijah, geographically overlapped with the family just mentioned and to some extent also overlapped the Benjamin Rogers crew. Stephen Rogers family was from Northern Virginia (but may tie back into the southern Virginia crowd)

There's a William Rogers from Pennsylvania, who lived on Halls' Ridge, whose family also overlaps with the groups around Pleasant. (Oh yeah, one of William's sons married a daughter of John Rogers 1792-1882) Finally, there's a Jeffrey Rogers from England, who lived in the Canaan area

We could fill several pages with examples. But let's end here. You've had your warning.

Notes for SARAH ELEANOR JANE CARTMELL:

o Christened at the Crosthwaite Church (per family Bible).

o Birth could have been 1873; came to Texas when she was 12 - abt 1881 - Married at the St. Phillip Episcopal Church in Palestine, Texas. In Feb 1915 they adopted a young girl about ten from a living father in Palestine. Her name was Helen Dean. It is not kwown why but the adoption did not work out and the girl was returned to her family, and Sarah's marriage to Henry was dissolved in the Spring of 1915 (per Jackie Gragg). Helen later married (Wells), and after Sarah's death, she contested Sarah's will. It took several years but the court upheld the will as written (dwc comment - there was a LOT of money involved).

o In 1941 Sarah E.J. Cartmell (formerly Davenport), single, and living in Palestine, Anderson County, Texas, was the guardian of Robinson Cartmell (Miles' son).

o In Sarah's Will there is a reference to Sarah James Callaway (b 1887) who was the daughter of James Cartmell and Mary Harriett Heath. The will stated, in part

".....But in my will of date February 19, 1940, I willed my niece, Sarah James Callaway, of Anderson County, Texas, Two Hundred (200) acres of land and Three Thousand ($ 3,000.00) Dollars in cash. Some time after said will was executed the said Sarah James Callaway filed a suit against me in the District Court of Anderson County...............Hence on May 27, 1941, by codicil of that date I revoked all bequests and gifts made by me in my previous will to the said Sarah James Callaway."

o Sarah's Will spells out some specific bequests, and then goes on to state ".....I have relatives living in England and in Vermont and Canada and other places but in the main they are well provided for and I think it best for my estate to go as herein set out. The greater part of the estate was made by my brother, Alfred Cartmell, and me in the State of Texas, and after giving the matter careful consideration I believe that my estate should, as far as possible, go to Texas people and Texas institutions. In making this Will I have thought about my relatives but think it best that my estate go as herein willed and set out". The Will then goes on to state " I will all the rest and residue of my estate, real, personal and mixed, of every kind and character to executors and trustees and same to be used by them for the establishment and maintenance of a home in or near Palestine, Texas, for the destitute aged and for the destitute orphans......be known as the "Cartmell Home for the Aged and Orphans." (dwc comment - This Home is still in existence in Palestine).

Generation No. 2

2. MARY JANE^3 CARTMELL (ROBINSON^2, ISAAC^1) was born 12 July 1840 in Hawkshead, Eng., and died 19 February 1898 in Quebec, Canada. She married (1) JOSEPH BELL 24 December 1874 in Dalton Parish Church, Eng.. She married (2) THOMAS ROUTLEDGE Bef. 1898.

Notes for MARY JANE CARTMELL:

In 1903 Mary and her husband were residents of Eaton, PQ, Canada (check this!).

In 1916 Mary Jane was deceased, but three children were alive. Family bible says she was born 18 Jul 1841 (christened at Hawkshead Church) - but - headstone in the Sand Hill Cemetery says:

In Memory of MARY CARTMELL, wife of THOMAS RUTLEDGE, died Feb 19, 1898 Aged 57 yrs 7 mo 12 days - At Rest.

Let's assume she was born 12 Jul 1840 and christened 6 days later - 18 Jul 1840.

Notes for JOSEPH BELL:

When Elizabeth was born Joseph's occ was Iron Miner. Joseph was deceased before his third child was born, thus probably died in 1878.

Children of MARY CARTMELL and JOSEPH BELL are:

i. MARY JANE[4] BELL, b. 03 August 1873, England d. 22 July 1944, Sherbrooke, Quebec, Canada.

Notes for MARY JANE BELL:

Mary Jane never married. she was living in Middlebury, Vt. in the early 1920s, then lived with Douglas Lofthouse's parents until she died in 1944. Used the birth and death dates on her gravestone (Sand Hill).

Notes for ISAAC CARTMELL:

In 1903 Isaac was a resident of Sherbrooke, Quebec. He moved back to England in May, 1912 (a month after the Titanic sank), with his 2nd wife, Lucy, their three daughters, plus Henry Arthur and John Audrie. They settled in Crosthwaite, Westmorland (Westmorland has since been joined with Cumberland and they are both called Cumbria).

Per National Archives (Montreal) Rev. A. Duff, Congregational, Sherbrooke, 1870, twelfth leaf: "Isaac Cartmell, farmer, bachelor, and Nancy Ann Kirkby, spinster, both of the township of Eaton, were married by special license, on this tenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy".

Per Peter Cartmell 15 Oct 97 letter - "...they all returned to England at the same time in Cunard White Star Olympic in 1912. They had a small estate from Frances Mary Cartmell who lived and died at High Cartmell Fold farm. They all settled initially at High Cartmell Fold. Later, after the death of Isaac in about 1919 they went to live at Crosthwaite House...."

Notes for LUCY ANN KIRKBY:

The 1871 census says she was born in Quebec; the 1881 says Quebec; but the 1891 (when she was 25) says England. It would appear that Lucy Kirkby, raised in the Cartmell house, was the granddaughter of Ann Kirkby (see the comments for Ann), BUT - Who were her parents???

Myles settled in Stanstead, PQ. Per Witherell's History (page 22) "Charles and his wife sold the farm in 1907 to Miles Cartmell, and retired to the Richardson House nearby. the Cartmells operated the farm by proxy, with Andrew and Ina Shackett Palsa as tenants. They sold to Elie Quesnel....." (this quote refers to a portion of the history of Cornwall, Vt.) o Miles was single, in Eaton, in 1891, so must have married 1892-1897.

Child of MYLES CARTMELL and WEALTHY RYDER is:

i. ROBINSON^4 CARTMELL, b. 13 June 1898, Quebec, Canada; d. 20 February 1970, Palestine, Texas.

Notes for WALLACE STUART LOFTHOUSE:

Douglas Lofthouse's parents returned from Lethbridge (where he was working for the railroad) in about 1918, and may have picked up the old Cartmell farm, as Douglas says the farm was 200 acres (same as the Cartmell farm). The Lofthouses then started to farm the property which was located on the road from Cookshire to Lennexville several miles to the west of the Sand Hill cemetery. The question is - what happened to the Cartmell farm when Isaac returned to England in 1912?

Question - What was the connection to Richmond? Richmond is about 25 miles NW of Sherbrooke. It is interesting that the officiating Minister was a Kellock, and that both witnesses were Kellocks. Notes for CYRUS HORATIO MUNCASTER:

o I have notes taken from viewing his baptism entry in Rev. Edward Parkin's Church of England Register (Cookshire, PQ, Canada, 1871). The joint Answer of Mary McKay Widow & relict of James McKay Jr. decd. James McKay Robert McKay, Leah McKay Zachariah McKay and Moses McKay Children and Representatives of the said James McKay Jr. decd. to a Bill of Complaint exhibited against them and others in the County Court of Shenandoah by John Curl

These Defendants saving and reserving to themselves now and at all times hereafter all and every benefit and advantage of exception to the many uncertainties untruths and imperfections in the said Bill of Complaint contained for Answer thereto or to so much thereof as these Defendants are advised is material or necessary for them to answer unto they Answer and say That true it is James McKay Senr. decd. did make and publish his last Will and testament and that the same contains the Devises in the Bill mentioned to have been made to the Complainant and these Defendants. But these Defendants do expressly deny that they ever refused to have partition made of the Lands in the Bill mentioned provided the same should be done in an Equitable fair and just manner, These Defendants further say that previous to the Death of the said James McKay Senr. the said Complainant resided on a plantation belonging to the said Deceased & with the Assent of the said James McKay Senr. the said Complainant had and held possession of one hundred Acres of Land the property of the said deceased James McKay Senr. (being a part of the 400 Acres in the Bill mentioned) and used the timber for the use of the farm on which he lived, which one hundred Acres of Land held and used as aforesaid by the Complainant was called ~~the~~ and considered as the Land of the said Complainant (tho' he had no title thereto) and the Defendants ever considered that 100 Acres as the part intended for the Complt. by the Will aforesaid and were ever willing for him to have hold and occupy the same — But since the Death of the said James McKay Senr. the Complainant not satisfied with that part hath contended for, and now is contending for 100 Acres of the said tract, in a different place of his own choosing more valuable than that held by him as aforesaid, a thing that these Defts. consider unjust and improper in the Complt. and which therefore they cannot submit to. — These Defendants therefore submit to this Court to appoint Commissioners to divide the Land in a fair and equitable manner, regarding the Interest of these Defendants and of the Defts. Mary McKay, Abraham McKay & Nancy McKay who are Infants under the age of 21 years —

These Defendants deny all unlawful Combination and Confederacy without that that the said pray to be hence Dismissed with their reasonable Costs &c —
